CONNECTING AMY GILLETT BIKEWAY STAGES

Adelaide Hills Council will discuss options for connecting stages of the Amy Gillett Bikeway with the Department of Planning Transport and Infrastructure (DPTI).

At its meeting of 17 January 2012, Adelaide Hills Council resolved to discuss with DPTI the option of a bicycle path being provided in Woodside facilitating the connection of Stages 1 & 2 of the Amy Gillett Bikeway.

In addition, Council proposes to raise the importance of funding the construction of the section of the Amy Gillett Bikeway along the former railway corridor, between Woodside recreation grounds and Tiers Road to provide a safe path for cyclists.

Mayor Bill Spragg said 'Connecting the stages of the popular Amy Gillett Bikeway is important to public safety and supporting healthy recreational options for the broader community. We are happy to discuss these matters in detail with the Department and hope that a reasonable outcome is reached quickly.'

It is anticipated that representation by Council to DPTI will be made during February 2012.
